

President's Office to renew tradition by moving back into College Hall

With the College Hall renovation project close at hand, President I. King Jordan has announced that he will renew a Gallaudet tradition by relocating his office to the historic structure. Because of the decision to move the President's Office, the official opening ceremony for College Hall has been moved from May 6 to May 26.

According to the Office of Public Relations, Dr. Jordan is expected to move from the Edward Miner Gallaudet building to the second floor of College Hall in July. Joining him in the move will be Dr. Jack Gannon, special assistant to the president for advocacy, Dr. Bette Martin, special assistant to the president for institutional affairs, Sue Ellis, director of congressional relations, and all of the President's Office support staff.

Until 1959, when President Leonard Elstad moved his office from College Hall to Hall Memorial Building, all of the University's former presidents had been located in College Hall. Completed in 1866, it is the oldest existing structure on Kendall Green.

Jordan commented that the upcoming move "is not something I had planned. I like my office in EMG and had no desire to change. But, as numerous people pointed out to me, traditionally Gallaudet presidents have been located in College Hall. The historical and cultural connotations are important, and I want to maintain those connections with the building."

In news of other office moves planned for Kendall Green in May or June, the College for Continuing Education is slated to move to the second floor of Peet Hall and the School of Management is expected to relocate from the West Office Building and Ely Center to the first floor and basement of Peet Hall in order to consolidate the school under one roof. Two computer labs for the School of Management will relocate from Ely Center to the basement of EMG in the area currently used by Interpreting Services (GIS). GIS is scheduled to move to Chapel Hall.

Recognizing community of excellence is theme of '92 Awards Day program

Chapel Hall held a standing room crowd for the annual Awards Day program on April 16, sponsored by the University's Committee C (Faculty and Student Affairs).

In step with the ceremony's theme, "Recognizing the Community of Excellence," faculty and student organizations recognized individual achievement with 49 different awards and scholarships. Several such honors went to more than one person, bringing the total number of people who received awards to 91.

While the awards honored primarily students, several faculty and staff members were recognized as well.

Willard Madsen, associate professor in the Department of Sign Communication, received the Tower Clock Dedication. Madsen was honored for his work establishing the New Faculty Orientation program and the Sign Communication Proficiency Interview in addition to his published sign language books, his poetry, and more than 35 years of service to the University—all of which follow this yearbook's theme, "Making Our Mark."

"I think the Tower Clock award is one of the most coveted awards of any faculty person on campus," said Madsen.

Kathryn (Kitty) Baldrige, assistant professor in the Department of Physical Education and Recreation, was named Mother of the Year by Alpha Sigma Pi and Gallaudetian of the Year by Kappa Sigma.

Alpha Sigma Pi also gave the Jonathan Hall award to Dr. William Moses, professor in the Theatre Arts Department, and the Woman of the Year award to Dr. Roslyn Rosen, dean of the College for Continuing Education. The fraternity's Teacher of the

continued on page 2

Powrie V. Doctor Chair Don Bangs (left) opens the multimedia exhibit on the career of Gilbert Eastman (right) by presenting him a life-size photograph of Eastman in the lead role of Cyrano de Bergerac. Also shown is School of Communication Dean Njeri Nuru.

School of Communication's awards program includes tribute to Eastman

Outstanding students, faculty, and staff were honored at the School of Communication's Fifth Annual Awards Program April 15 in the Merrill Learning Center.

The program included a tribute to the 35-year career of Gallaudet professor and deaf theater pioneer Gilbert Eastman and the opening of a multimedia exhibit celebrating his achievements.

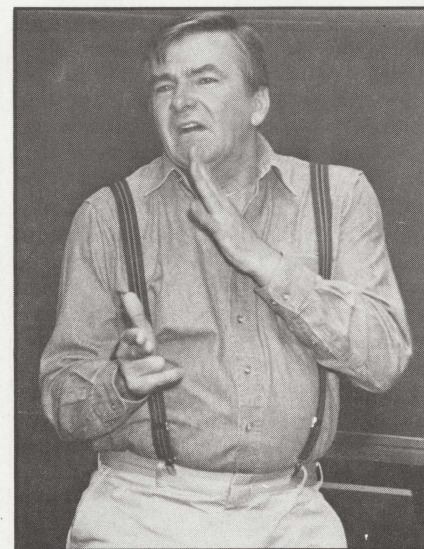

Eastman performed his one-man show, "Me and Aunt Irma," which takes a humorous look at some of the trials and tribulations deaf people have when using lipreading, captioning, or interpreters and pokes fun at some of the common misconceptions hearing people have about deaf people.

Dr. Don Bangs, this year's Powrie V. Doctor Chair of Deaf Studies, opened the multimedia exhibit by presenting Eastman with a life-size photograph of Eastman's performance of the lead role in "Cyrano de Bergerac."

The exhibit is a collaboration by several departments at Gallaudet, including Theatre Arts, Archives, Publications and Production, and the School of Communication. It received funding from the School of Communication and the Laurent Clerc Cultural Fund.

Eastman also received a Dean's Award from Dr. Njeri Nuru, dean of the School of Communication. Dr. William Moses, professor in the Theatre Arts Department, and Mary Lou Novitsky of the Department of TV, Film, and Photography also received Dean's Awards for their outstanding work.

Communication Arts undergraduate Debra Cole received the School of Communication's Outstanding Student Award. Steven Collins, the first deaf person to earn a master's in interpreting, received the School of Communication's Award for outstanding achievement by a graduate student. Dr. Ceil Lucas, associate professor with the Department of Linguistics and Interpreting, received the Stein-Garretson Award for an outstanding teaching record, and Linda Cooper, secretary for TV, Film, and Photography, received that department's Staff Recognition Award. Communication Arts undergraduates Rita Girodano and Peter Schultz were awarded $3,600 Bretzlaff Foundation Scholarships.

Gilbert Eastman in a scene from his one-man show, "Me and Aunt Irma," performed at the School of Communication's Fifth Annual Awards Program.

Sign Communication associate professor Willard Madsen accepts Tower Clock Dedication from Editor-in-Chief Sandra Amos.

Items related to admissions process taken up by Faculty Senate April 20

The University's Faculty Senate at its April 20 meeting took action on a number of the 21 recommendations made in March by Committee G (Standards and Admissions) concerning the admissions process but failed to reach agreement on others.

The senate agreed that Gallaudet should continue as a member of the National Association of College Admissions and Counselors and adhere to that body's principles; that incoming students be advised as soon as possible of their status and any conditions they may have to meet; that liaisons from various Northwest Campus and Kendall Green departments meet on a regular basis to maintain communication; and that former students who have been enrolled for four or more semesters applying for readmission must have all conditions removed before being granted regular student status.

The senate rejected recommendations that would have given responsibility for conducting the entire admissions process to the Admissions Office, including the transition from Northwest Campus to Kendall Green; made Committee G responsible for overseeing the transition process; and applied the same admissions criteria to transferring Northwest Campus students that are used for initial admissions to Kendall Green.

The senate also rejected formation of an admissions committee composed of one Committee G member and one member each from the English and math or science departments at Northwest Campus and Kendall Green. Establishment of this committee would have ended the involvement of the Council on Undergraduate Education and the Council on Preparatory Studies in the admissions process.

In other business, Senate Chairman William Marshall reported that the Board of Trustees has rejected the faculty's request for a seat on the board. Philip Bravin, chair of the board, explained in a letter to Dr. Marshall that giving the faculty a seat on the board would create a conflict of interest and "change the basic nature and focus of the board."

According to Bravin, "Trustees must be able to approach issues with a broad, long-term vision that is informed by their outside perspective as well as their understanding of the issues critical to all campus constituencies. The ability of the board to make decisions and set policy that are in the interest of the institution as a whole is essential."

Bravin noted that the board has received more information in recent years from the faculty representative to the board and other faculty members, and assured Marshall that the board "will continue to ensure that it is fully aware of faculty thinking and concerns."

Sociology professor Dr. Yarker Andersson accepts the Distinguished Faculty Award from Dr. Jordan at President's Scholars Dinner.

Ninety-one honored at awards program

continued from page 1

Year award went to Alexander Nazarov, a deaf Russian artist who is artist-in-residence at Gallaudet this year.

Hillel Goldberg, director of the University Center, was named Man of Merit by Delta Epsilon, and Dr. Bruce White, associate professor in the English Department, was honored as Faculty Member of the Year by Delta Phi Epsilon. A second Woman of the Year award, sponsored by the Bionettes Club, went to Donald Ammons, assistant professor in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures.

Dr. I. King Jordan announced that the President's Council Award would go to senior Cindy Ulmer. The award is given yearly to a student with a high grade point average who also exemplifies leadership and character.

The English Language Institute (ELI) recognized its first student to complete a bachelor's degree, Andre Thibeault from Quebec, Canada. He will receive his bachelor's in deaf studies and sign communication at commencement.

Experiential Programs Off Campus named 16 students to the EPOC Hall of Fame for excelling in their internships, and 17 juniors and seniors gained places in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Among Ourselves

"Deaf Mosaic," Gallaudet's monthly television magazine program, is now broadcast in London, England, on the BBC network.

Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology Department employees Barbara Brunner, supervisor; Lisa Devlin, Elena Kleifges, and Robert Windham, audiologists; and Dr. Harriet Kaplan, professor, gave a presentation at the fourth annual convention of the American Academy of Audiology in Nashville, Tenn., April 10. Their topic was "Clinical Services to Culturally Deaf People."

Dr. Barry Crouch, associate professor in the History Department, has had his book, The Freedmen's Bureau and Black Texans, published by the University of Texas Press. Crouch also received a $4,000 research grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to work on a book on the Reconstruction in Texas.

Announcements

An opening ceremony for "1991, The Year in Pictures... A Child's Perspective," a multimedia exhibit by KDES students, will be held May 6 from 7-10:30 p.m. in the school's Kendall Art Gallery. The theme of the exhibit is deaf children's reactions to the Persian Gulf war and the recent revolution in the former Soviet Union. A color guard representing branches of the United States military will present a ceremony at 7:15 p.m. and Desert Storm veterans will be on hand to share their experiences. The exhibit, which closes June 4, can be seen 9 a.m.-4 p.m. weekdays.

Captioned screenings of the movie "Grand Canyon" will be held May 2 at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at AMC Union Station Theatres. All seats are $10. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the main cafeteria or the Ely Center snack bar on Mondays, Wednesdays, or Fridays, April 6-29 from 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. Checks should be payable to Deaf-REACH.

Fair set on tax sheltered annuities

A Tax Sheltered Annuity (TSA) Information Fair will be held in the Ely Center Multipurpose Room on April 30 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. TSA representatives will be on hand to answer questions.

Gallaudet employees can designate a portion of their salary to invest in the TSA program issued by an investment management company. This tax-deferred money can be used only for retirement.

There are several vendors authorized to provide TSAs. To help employees understand the tax and income benefits from TSA programs, the Personnel Office will have a seminar in the Learning Center, Room LN-11, at 11 a.m. on Thursday, April 30.

Some of the issues that will be covered include "Planning for the Future," "TSA Do's and Don'ts," "Annuities vs. CDs," "Fixed Annuity vs. Variable Annuity," "Annuities as an IRA Alternative," and "How Safe is Your Nest Egg?"

Publications wanted

In view of the growing number of newsletters and other publications that various departments at the University's two campuses are producing, On the Green wants to let its readers know about the publications that are available.

On the Green will list the names of all newsletters, reports, and other publications and will include essential facts such as frequency of publication, purpose, target audience, number of copies produced, and the name of a person who can be contacted for more information.

If your department publishes any publication at least once a year, please send a copy, along with the requested information, to Todd Byrd, MSSD, Room G-35.

Classified Ads

Classified ads are printed free for Gallaudet faculty and staff. Ads must be submitted in writing to On the Green, MSSD, Room G-37, or E-mail MGMOORE. Off-campus phone numbers must include an area code and whether the number is voice or TDD. Ads may be run two weeks if requested and if space permits. Ads received April 27-May 1 will be published May 11.

FOR SALE: Desk, chest of drawers, chair, mattress, box spring. Call (202) 244-8781 (VTDD).

FOR SALE: Full-size water bed w/dark wood head/foot boards, $100. E-mail MGMOORE.

FOR SALE: Baby Trend stroller, good cond., $50. Call Lisa, (301) 604-7935 (TDD).

WANTED: Female nonsmoker to share 3-BR apt. in Lanham, Md., share bath, no pets, must like cats, $270/mo., util. incl., avail. June 1, early move-in nego. Call (301) 794-9472, or E-mail KKRASHID.

FOR RENT: Large room in house, near Eastern Market, $400/mo. plus 1/3 util./nego. Call x5249 or E-mail 11HREISMAN.

FOR SALE: Brick colonial, 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, 2 enclosed porches, new roof, full basement, double-hung windows, near Metro, walk to Kendall Green, price nego. Call Mrs. McCree, (301) 565-5000 (V) days or (202) 396-3717 (V) evens.

WANTED: Male to share condo rent-free in return for assistance as a personal care attendant to 73-yr.-old deaf man, small salary nego. Call Leo Jacobs, (301) 985-4834 (TDD), or E-mail LCJACOBS.

Job Openings

Some of the advertised positions may already be filled. The list below includes only new staff and faculty openings and does not represent all jobs available. To get a recorded message describing the complete list, call x5358 or x5359 (TDD).

CASHIER INTERN: Cashier's Office

ACCOUNTING INTERN: Accounting Office

April 27, 1992

Published each Monday for the staff and faculty of Gallaudet University by the Department of Publications and Production.

Editor

Todd Byrd

Editorial Staff

Lynne McConnell

Randy Gentry

Gayle Moore

Contributor

Muriel Strassler

Photography Staff

Chun Louie

Joan Schlub

Typesetting

Julius Donovan

Gallaudet University is an equal opportunity employer/educational institution and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, national origin, religion, age, hearing status, disability, covered veteran status, marital status, personal appearance, sexual orientation, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, source of income, place of business or residence, pregnancy, childbirth, or any other unlawful basis.